Capsule Biography

Heng WANG (王衡) is a Professor of Law in Yong Pung How School of Law at Singapore Management University (SMU). He was a professor and a founding co-director of Herbert Smith Freehills China International Business and Economic Law \(CIBEL\) Centre, Faculty of Law & Justice, the University of New South Wales (UNSW Law & Justice). He was also an inaugural co-director of the Tsinghua-UNSW Joint Research Centre for International Commercial and Economic Law. Before that, Heng was a professor at Southwest University of Political Science and Law (SWUPL), China, and headed a leading centre at SWUPL (with the Department of Treaty and Law, the Chinese Ministry of Commerce as the partner). Heng has also served as a Fernand Braudel Senior Fellow (2019) and Max Weber Fellow (2010-2011) at the European University Institute and conducted research at the WTO Secretariat.

Heng's research evolves to explore the future of international economic relationships and legal developments, often from regional perspectives. His current research focuses on the governance of digitalization (e.g., new digital currencies), finance, and sustainable development. He is also interested in Chinese law.

He has received major grants and top research awards, including the China Law Society's triennial China Outstanding Law Research Award (twice) (China's highest national award in legal research) and the Chinese Ministry of Education's Outstanding Research Award in Humanities and Social Science (the most important official research award in the social sciences in China). Recently Heng is an investigator of a major project related to the future of regional economic governance funded by the Australian Research Council.

In addition to books, he has published extensively in leading journals, and has been regularly cited and interviewed (e.g., in ABC, Al Jazeera, BBC, CNBC, Reuters, SBS, South China Morning Post, Yahoo Finance). Heng has been recognised by The Australian newspaper's Research Magazine 2020 as the Australian leader in the field of international law based on number of citations.

Heng has advised or been a (keynote) speaker at events organised by many organizations and institutions (e.g., ADBI, APEC, BIS, HCCH, ICC, IMF, ICSID, MAS, UNICTRAL, World Bank, and WTO), and the private sector. His work has been cited by intergovernmental organization documents.
