

Mahdev Mohan
Assistant Professor of Law, SMU;
Consultant, Providence Law Asia.

Mahdev specializes in international law and regulation in business transactions. He has worked with Senior Counsel to represent sovereigns, multi-nationals and other clients on a range of disputes, including commercial arbitration, commercial crime, and banking law. He completed his Master's at Stanford Law School on a Fulbright Scholarship, and is an Assistant Professor of Law at the Singapore Management University.

As an international law academic and practitioner, Mahdev brings with him expertise in the following areas of practice:

- International commercial arbitration
- Regulatory & government affairs
- White-collar crime, compliance and internal investigations

Mahdev has assisted UK barristers on commercial litigation before the English Court of Appeal. He is now an Associate Tenant with Temple Garden Chambers, a leading set of chambers in London in the fields of public law, public international law, and regulatory and government affairs.

In Singapore, Mahdev has been an associate with Drew & Napier LLC's litigation & dispute resolution department, where he has worked with Senior Counsel to represent multi-nationals, sovereigns and other clients on a range of contentious and advisory matters, including international commercial arbitration, commercial crime, banking law, and defamation law.

Mahdev is an Assistant Professor at the Singapore Management University School of Law. He directs SMU's Asian Business & Rule of Law initiative. He is also the Executive Director of the Singapore Society of International Law, where he oversees its trans-national dispute resolution interest group. He is an editor of the Journal of East Asia and International Law and researches and writes on international law, investment arbitration and human rights in Asia.

Mahdev completed his Master's at Stanford Law School on a Fulbright Scholarship. At Stanford, he was appointed a Fellow by the Stanford Center on International Conflict Negotiation (SCICN). While at Stanford, he was also awarded the Carl Mason Franklin Prize for most outstanding scholarly writing in the field of international law from Stanford Law School.

Matthew J. Skinner (Matt)
Partner
Jones Day

Matt Skinner has almost 20 years experience representing corporations in legally complex and sensitive disputes. These include international arbitrations concerning multimillion dollar contractual, energy, construction, mining, and insurance disputes. Matt's grasp of the broader issues impacting litigation enables him to provide solution-driven, commercially focused advice to his clients.

Matt also advises and assists clients in their dealings with government regulators in connection with investigations and prosecutions, including conducting internal investigations for clients suspected of bribery and corruption offences.

Matt has practiced in London, Sydney, and Singapore and has handled disputes in a number of forums, including the courts of England and Australia, as well as in international arbitration tribunals (SIAC, LCIA, LMAA, ICC, UNCITRAL, and CAS). He also has experience in various forms of alternative dispute resolution, including adjudication and mediation. Matt is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators and a panel arbitrator at SIAC (Singapore International Arbitration Centre) as well as KLRCA (Kuala Lumpur Regional Centre for Arbitration).

He is the author of a number of published articles and is regularly invited to speak at seminars and conferences.

Wade M. Coriell
Partner
King & Spalding

Wade Coriell focuses on complex, international commercial and investment disputes. A partner, deputy head of our International Arbitration practice and leader of our Asia disputes group, Wade has been recognized by Chambers as "an excellent advocate whose level of experience and ability make him stand out." He has represented clients in several of the largest international arbitrations on record in Asia and Latin America, and has particular experience in the oil and gas sector.

Wade has particular strength in handling high-profile matters pending simultaneously in multiple jurisdictions, often involving elements of public, investor and government relations. He has handled disputes against the governments of Argentina, Armenia, Ecuador, Indonesia, Peru, the Philippines, Romania and Venezuela, as well as international arbitrations for commercial clients in a number of other countries. His recent work includes handling four Asia-based disputes of over $1 billion each.

Wade has represented clients before the Singapore International Arbitration Centre, the Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre, the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes, the International Chamber of Commerce, the London Court of International Arbitration, the American Arbitration Association, the Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague and other institutions.

Since 2015, Chambers has ranked Wade annually for his strong international arbitration practice. He also is listed in Who's Who, Arbitration Future Leaders, Legal 500, Global Arbitration Review 100, and Latin Lawyer. In 2013, Law360 named him as one of five Rising Stars in International Energy Law, and The Global Arbitration Review has called him "a lawyer to know."
